

Mr. Jamie M. Miller
Executive Director
Mississippi Department of Marine Resources
Biloxi, Mississippi

As part of our audit of the financial statements of the treasury governmental fund and the schedule of analysis of changes in accrued compensated absences (collectively referred to as the financial statements) of the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (MDMR) as of and for the year ended June 30, 2017, we wish to communicate the following to you.

Audit Scope and Results

Auditor's Responsibility Under Auditing Standards Generally Accepted in the United States of America and the Standards Applicable to Financial Audits Contained in Government Auditing Standards, Issued by the Comptroller General of the United States

An audit performed in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, is designed to obtain reasonable, rather than absolute, assurance about the financial statements. In performing auditing procedures, we establish scopes of audit tests in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole. Our engagement does not include a detailed audit of every transaction. Our engagement letter more specifically describes our responsibilities.

These standards require communication of significant matters related to the financial statement audit that are relevant to the responsibilities of those charged with governance in overseeing the financial reporting process. Such matters are communicated in the remainder of this letter or have previously been communicated during other phases of the audit. The standards do not require the auditor to design procedures for the purpose of identifying other matters to be communicated with those charged with governance.

An audit of the financial statements does not relieve management or those charged with governance of their responsibilities. Our engagement letter more specifically describes your responsibilities.

Qualitative Aspects of Significant Accounting Policies and Practices

Significant Accounting Policies

MDMR's significant accounting policies are described in Note 1 of the audited financial statements.

Alternative Accounting Treatments

No matters are reportable.

Management Judgments and Accounting Estimates

No matters are reportable.

Audit Adjustments

During the course of any audit, an auditor may propose adjustments to financial statement amounts. Management evaluates our proposals and records those adjustments which, in its judgment, are required to prevent the financial statements from being materially misstated. Some adjustments proposed were not recorded because their aggregate effect is not currently material; however, they involve areas in which adjustments in the future could be material, individually or in the aggregate.

Areas in which adjustments were proposed include:

Proposed Audit Adjustments Recorded

- Various reclassifications for financial statement presentation purposes
- Accounts payable and receivable cutoff and the correction of accruals automatically posted by the State of Mississippi's accounting system
- Cost allocation transfers and indirect costs

Proposed Audit Adjustments Not Recorded

- Attached is a summary of uncorrected misstatements we aggregated during the current engagement and pertaining to the latest period presented that were determined by management to be immaterial, both individually and in the aggregate, to the financial statements as a whole.

Auditor's Judgments About the Quality of the Entity's Accounting Principles

No matters are reportable.

Disagreements with Management

No matters are reportable.

Consultation with Other Accountants

No matters are reportable.

Significant Issues Discussed with Management

No matters are reportable.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

No matters are reportable.

Other Material Communication

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of the treasury governmental fund of MDMR as of and for the year ended June 30, 2017, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, we considered MDMR's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of MDMR's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of MDMR's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses and, therefore, there can be no assurance that all deficiencies, significant deficiencies or material weaknesses have been identified.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect and correct misstatements of MDMR's financial statements on a timely basis. A deficiency in design exists when a control necessary to meet a control objective is missing or an existing control is not properly designed so that, even if the control operates as designed, a control objective would not be met. A deficiency in operation exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed or when the person performing the control does not possess the necessary authority or competence to perform the control effectively.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of MDMR's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Executive Director
Mississippi Department of Marine Resources

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

We observed the following matter that we consider to be a deficiency.

Deficiency

MDMR Oversight of Transactions Posted to MAGIC by Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) and MDMR Stand-alone Financial Statements

On July 1, 2014, the State of Mississippi went live with MAGIC – Mississippi’s Accountability System for Government Information and Collaboration. Under this new enterprise resource planning (ERP) system, certain accounting responsibilities shifted from the individual state agencies to DFA. DFA has the ability to post journal entries and other transactions directly to the financial records of MDMR, including both year-end, closeout entries and entries during the year. MDMR currently has no oversight over these DFA entries. In addition, various accounting policies implemented by DFA facilitate reporting at the statewide level but impair reporting at the individual agency level. We recommend MDMR continue to evaluate ways to expand its oversight over these DFA entries.

We observed matters that we consider to be deficiencies that we communicated to management orally.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of management and others within MDMR, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
